

JPMorgan Chase Unpaid Leave Policies

Policy Document for U.S. Employees

Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA) | Personal Leave (Unpaid)

Effective Date: January 1, 2025

Executive Summary

JPMorgan Chase provides comprehensive unpaid leave benefits to eligible employees under the Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA) and the firm's Personal Leave policy. This document outlines the firm's unpaid leave programs effective January 1, 2025, including FMLA leave (up to 12 weeks for qualifying family and medical reasons, or 26 weeks for military caregiver leave) and Personal Leave (up to 26 weeks for personal reasons not covered by other policies). These policies provide job-protected time off while maintaining employment continuity and benefit eligibility, reflecting the firm's commitment to supporting employees through extended absences for health, family, and personal needs[1][2].

Section 1: Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA)

1.1 FMLA Overview

The Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA) is a federal law that provides eligible employees with up to 12 workweeks of unpaid, job-protected leave during a 12-month period for specified family and medical reasons. For military caregiver situations, eligible employees may receive up to 26 workweeks of unpaid leave[1][2].

Key FMLA Features:

- Up to 12 workweeks of unpaid leave per 12-month period (or 26 weeks for military caregiver)
- Job protection—return to same or equivalent position
- Continuation of group health benefits during leave
- Protection from retaliation for taking FMLA leave
- Federal law applicable to covered employers

JPMorgan Chase FMLA Administration:

JPMorgan Chase complies fully with all FMLA requirements and provides FMLA-protected leave to all eligible employees. The firm's paid leave policies (Parental Leave, Critical Caregiver Leave, Short-Term Disability) often run concurrently with FMLA, providing salary continuation during FMLA-protected time off[1][2].

1.2 FMLA Eligibility Requirements

Employee Eligibility:

To qualify for FMLA leave, employees must meet the following criteria:

- Employment Duration: Have worked for JPMorgan Chase for at least 12 months (need not be consecutive)
- Hours Worked: Have worked at least 1,250 hours during the 12 months immediately preceding the leave
- Worksite Location: Work at a location where JPMorgan Chase employs at least 50 employees within 75 miles

Special Eligibility Notes:

- The 12 months of employment need not be consecutive—prior employment with JPMorgan Chase may count
- The 1,250 hours requirement equates to approximately 24 hours per week over 12 months
- Part-time employees may qualify if they meet the hours requirement
- Employees who do not meet FMLA eligibility may still qualify for other JPMorgan Chase leave policies

1.3 Qualifying Reasons for FMLA Leave

FMLA leave may be taken for the following reasons:

1. Birth and Care of Newborn Child:

- Birth of employee's child
- Bonding with newborn during first 12 months after birth
- Available to both mothers and fathers

2. Placement of Child for Adoption or Foster Care:

- Placement of child with employee for adoption
- Placement of foster child with employee
- Bonding during first 12 months after placement

3. Care for Spouse, Domestic Partner, Child, or Parent with Serious Health Condition:

- Eligible Family Members: Spouse, domestic partner, child (under 18 or incapable of self-care due to disability), or parent
- Serious Health Condition: Illness, injury, impairment, or physical/mental condition involving inpatient care or continuing treatment by healthcare provider

4. Employee's Own Serious Health Condition:

- Illness, injury, impairment, or physical/mental condition that makes employee unable to perform essential job functions
- Includes incapacity due to pregnancy, prenatal care, or childbirth
- Includes continuing treatment for chronic conditions

5. Qualifying Exigency Related to Military Service:

- Available when employee's spouse, child, or parent is on covered active duty or called to covered active duty in Armed Forces
- Qualifying exigencies include: short-notice deployment, military events and activities, childcare and school activities, financial and legal arrangements, counseling, rest and recuperation, post-deployment activities

6. Military Caregiver Leave (26 Weeks):

- Care for covered service member (spouse, child, parent, or next of kin) with serious injury or illness incurred in line of duty
- Up to 26 workweeks during single 12-month period
- Applies to current service members and certain veterans

1.4 Serious Health Condition Defined

A "serious health condition" under FMLA includes:

Inpatient Care:

- Overnight stay in hospital, hospice, or residential medical care facility
- Any subsequent treatment related to inpatient care

Continuing Treatment by Healthcare Provider:

- Period of incapacity of more than three consecutive days plus treatment by healthcare provider
- Pregnancy or prenatal care
- Chronic serious health conditions (e.g., asthma, diabetes, epilepsy) requiring periodic visits to healthcare provider
- Permanent or long-term incapacity (e.g., Alzheimer's, stroke, terminal illness)
- Conditions requiring multiple treatments (e.g., chemotherapy, physical therapy, dialysis)

Examples of Serious Health Conditions:

- Cancer and cancer treatment
- Heart attack, stroke, severe heart conditions
- Major surgery and recovery
- Pregnancy complications
- Mental health conditions requiring hospitalization or continuing treatment
- Chronic conditions requiring ongoing care (diabetes, asthma, back conditions)

Conditions Generally NOT Considered Serious Health Conditions:

- Common cold or flu (unless complications develop)
- Routine physical examinations
- Cosmetic treatments (unless medically necessary)
- Minor injuries (sprains, minor cuts) not requiring continuing treatment

1.5 FMLA Leave Duration and Calculation

Standard FMLA Leave:

- Up to 12 workweeks of unpaid leave in a 12-month period
- One workweek equals the number of days employee is normally scheduled to work (typically 5 days)
- Part-time employees entitled to same number of weeks as full-time employees (leave hours prorated based on schedule)

Military Caregiver Leave:

- Up to 26 workweeks of unpaid leave in single 12-month period
- Combined limit: If employee takes other FMLA leave during same 12-month period, total cannot exceed 26 weeks

12-Month Period Calculation:

JPMorgan Chase uses a rolling 12-month period measured backward from the date employee uses FMLA leave. Each time an employee takes FMLA leave, the remaining leave entitlement is the balance of 12 weeks not used during the immediately preceding 12 months.

Example:

- Employee takes 4 weeks FMLA leave in March 2025
- Employee requests additional leave in September 2025
- Available FMLA: 12 weeks minus any FMLA used in preceding 12 months (September 2024 - September 2025)

1.6 Types of FMLA Leave

Continuous Leave:

- Leave taken for consecutive days/weeks (e.g., surgery recovery, childbirth)
- Most common form of FMLA leave
- Requires single notification and medical certification

Intermittent Leave:

- Leave taken in separate blocks of time (e.g., days, hours) for single qualifying reason
- Available when medically necessary for serious health condition or military family leave
- Examples: chemotherapy appointments, physical therapy sessions, flare-ups of chronic condition
- NOT available for birth/adoption bonding (must be continuous)
- Requires medical certification documenting medical necessity

Reduced Schedule Leave:

- Reduced work schedule (e.g., working 4 days per week instead of 5)
- Available when medically necessary for serious health condition
- Examples: transitioning back after surgery, managing chronic condition
- Requires medical certification documenting medical necessity

Intermittent/Reduced Schedule Limitations:

- JPMorgan Chase may temporarily transfer employee to alternative position with equivalent pay and benefits to better accommodate intermittent or reduced schedule leave
- Employee must work with manager and Human Resources to coordinate schedules
- Only smallest increment tracked by employer's timekeeping system will be deducted from FMLA entitlement (typically 1 hour minimum)

1.7 FMLA Notice RequirementsEmployee Responsibilities:*Foreseeable Leave (Planned/Anticipated):

When leave is foreseeable (e.g., scheduled surgery, expected birth), employee must:

- Provide at least 30 days advance notice when possible
- If 30 days not possible, provide notice as soon as practicable (within 1-2 business days of learning of need for leave)
- Notify supervisor and contact Benefits Service Center: 1-844-ASK-JPMC (1-844-275-5762)
- Complete leave request forms and provide required medical certification

Unforeseeable Leave (Emergency/Unexpected):

When leave is unforeseeable (e.g., sudden illness, accident), employee must:

- Notify supervisor as soon as practicable (same day or next business day)
- Follow JPMorgan Chase's normal call-in procedures
- Contact Benefits Service Center within 2 business days when possible
- Provide required medical certification within 15 calendar days (or as soon as practicable)

Consequences of Failure to Provide Notice:

- FMLA protection may be delayed until proper notice provided
- Leave may be denied if employee fails to provide required notice without reasonable justification
- Repeated failures may result in denial of FMLA protection

1.8 Medical Certification RequirementsCertification of Serious Health Condition:

JPMorgan Chase requires medical certification to support FMLA leave requests for:

- Employee's own serious health condition
- Serious health condition of spouse, domestic partner, child, or parent
- Serious injury/illness of covered military service member

Required Information on Certification:

- Date condition began and expected duration
- Diagnosis and prognosis

- Appropriate medical facts regarding condition
- Statement that employee is needed to provide care (for family member's condition)
- Estimate of time employee needs for care or is unable to work
- For intermittent/reduced schedule: medical necessity and expected frequency/duration

Timing and Submission:

- Employee has 15 calendar days from request to provide completed certification
- Extensions granted for circumstances beyond employee's control
- Submit certification to Benefits Service Center (not supervisor)
- Medical information kept confidential in separate medical file

Incomplete or Insufficient Certification:

- JPMorgan Chase will notify employee of deficiencies
- Employee has 7 calendar days to cure deficiencies
- Leave may be denied if complete certification not provided timely

Recertification:

JPMorgan Chase may request recertification:

- No more frequently than every 30 days unless: employee requests extension, circumstances change significantly, or employer receives information casting doubt on validity of certification
- For chronic conditions: no more than every 6 months
- At end of minimum period specified in certification if additional leave needed

Second and Third Opinions:

- JPMorgan Chase may require second medical opinion at employer's expense
- If first and second opinions conflict, employer may require third opinion (binding on both parties) at employer's expense
- Employee may not be required to see healthcare provider designated by employer on recurring basis

1.9 Job Protection and Restoration Rights

Return to Same or Equivalent Position:

Upon return from FMLA leave, employees are entitled to:

- Same position held before leave, OR
- Equivalent position with equivalent pay, benefits, and other terms and conditions of employment

"Equivalent Position" Defined:

- Virtually identical pay (including bonuses, incentives, shift differentials)
- Same or equivalent benefits
- Same or substantially similar duties, responsibilities, and authority
- Same shift or equivalent work schedule
- Same or geographically proximate worksite

Restoration Rights Include:

- No loss of benefits accrued before leave began
- Reinstatement of seniority and seniority-based rights (unless lost during leave per policy applicable to other leaves)
- No adverse action based on taking FMLA leave

Key Employee Exception:

- FMLA allows denial of restoration to "key employees" (salaried, highest-paid 10% of workforce within 75 miles) if necessary to prevent substantial economic injury to employer
- JPMorgan Chase will notify employee if classified as key employee and provide opportunity to return to work immediately
- Rarely invoked exception

Situations Where Job Restoration Not Required:

- Employee would have been laid off or terminated regardless of taking FMLA leave (e.g., workforce reduction, position elimination, poor performance documented before leave)
- Employee fraudulently obtained FMLA leave
- Employee unequivocally advises employer of intent not to return
- Employee fails to return from leave after expiration of FMLA entitlement

1.10 Benefits Continuation During FMLA LeaveGroup Health Benefits:

During FMLA leave, JPMorgan Chase continues group health benefits (Medical, Dental, Vision) on same terms as if employee continued working:

- Coverage continues at same level
- Employee pays same share of premiums as before leave
- JPMorgan Chase continues employer contribution
- No waiting period or new pre-existing condition exclusion upon return

Premium Payment During Leave:

- Paid Leave: If employee receives any pay during FMLA leave (e.g., through Short-Term Disability, Parental Leave), employee premiums deducted from pay on normal schedule
- Unpaid Leave: Employee billed directly for employee share of premiums; payment due within 30 days
- Failure to Pay: Coverage may be cancelled if payment more than 30 days late (15-day grace period notice provided)
- Upon Return: Coverage reinstated immediately upon return without waiting period or exclusions

Other Benefits During FMLA Leave:

- Life and Accident Insurance: Continue with premium payments
- Disability Insurance: Coverage continues; premiums deducted from any pay received

- 401(k) Savings Plan: Contributions cease during unpaid leave; may resume upon return
- Vacation/Sick Time: Accruals may be suspended during unpaid FMLA leave (per JPMorgan Chase policy)
- Seniority: Service credit continues to accrue during FMLA leave

Recovery of Premiums:

If employee fails to return from FMLA leave for reasons other than:

- Continuation, recurrence, or onset of serious health condition, or
- Circumstances beyond employee's control

JPMorgan Chase may recover health insurance premiums paid during unpaid FMLA leave.

1.11 Interaction with JPMorgan Chase Paid Leave Policies

Concurrent Running:

FMLA leave runs concurrently with JPMorgan Chase paid leave policies when applicable:

FMLA + Parental Leave:

- Parental Leave (16 weeks paid) runs concurrently with FMLA (12 weeks)
- First 12 weeks satisfy FMLA requirements for eligible employees
- Remaining 4 weeks of Parental Leave job-protected under JPMorgan Chase policy
- Employee receives full salary during first 12 weeks (satisfying FMLA); remaining 4 weeks also paid

FMLA + Critical Caregiver Leave:

- Critical Caregiver Leave (4 weeks paid) runs concurrently with FMLA when caring for spouse, domestic partner, child, or parent with serious health condition
- Employee receives full salary during 4 weeks
- FMLA provides job protection for full 12 weeks if additional time needed (remaining 8 weeks unpaid)

FMLA + Short-Term Disability (STD):

- STD (up to 26 weeks, full or partial pay based on tenure) runs concurrently with FMLA
- Employee receives STD payments during FMLA period
- FMLA provides 12 weeks job protection; STD provides up to 26 weeks job protection
- If employee exhausts 12 weeks FMLA but still on STD, job protection continues under STD policy

FMLA + Sick Time:

- Employees may use accrued sick time during FMLA leave
- Sick time provides pay; FMLA provides job protection
- Runs concurrently with FMLA when used for qualifying FMLA reason

State Paid Family Leave Coordination:

In states with paid family leave programs (California, New Jersey, New York, Washington, etc.):

- State paid leave runs concurrently with FMLA when applicable
- FMLA provides job protection; state program provides wage replacement
- JPMorgan Chase paid leave policies may supplement state benefits
- Employees should contact HR for state-specific coordination

1.12 Intermittent Leave and Reduced Schedule Administration

Tracking Intermittent Leave:

- Leave time counted in smallest increment used by JPMorgan Chase timekeeping system (typically 1 hour)
- Each hour taken counts against 12-week FMLA entitlement
- Example: Employee normally works 40 hours/week; takes 8 hours intermittent FMLA leave = 0.2 weeks used (8/40)

Employee Obligations:

- Make reasonable efforts to schedule foreseeable treatment during non-work hours
- Provide advance notice of scheduled appointments when possible
- Coordinate with supervisor and HR regarding scheduling
- Follow call-in procedures for unscheduled absences

Employer Rights:

- May temporarily transfer employee to alternative position with equivalent pay/benefits to better accommodate intermittent schedule
- May establish procedures for requesting intermittent leave (e.g., call-in requirements)
- May request periodic reports on status and intent to return

1.13 Returning from FMLA Leave

Fitness-for-Duty Certification:

For FMLA leave due to employee's own serious health condition, JPMorgan Chase may require fitness-for-duty certification before return:

- Certification from healthcare provider that employee able to resume work
- May be required for each intermittent absence if reasonable safety concern
- Must be job-related and consistent with business necessity
- Certification requirements communicated in designation notice

Return to Work Process:

1. Contact supervisor and HR to confirm return date (typically same as scheduled end of leave)
2. Provide fitness-for-duty certification if required
3. Complete any return-to-work documentation
4. Resume duties in same or equivalent position

Failure to Return:

- If employee fails to return at end of FMLA leave without seeking extension or providing valid reason, employment may be terminated
- If employee provides insufficient fitness-for-duty certification, return may be delayed
- Continued absence without communication may be treated as voluntary resignation

Extensions Beyond FMLA:

If additional time needed beyond 12 weeks FMLA:

- Employee may request Personal Leave (unpaid, up to 26 weeks total)
- Request must be made before FMLA expiration
- No guarantee of job protection beyond FMLA entitlement (except as required by law or other policies)
- Discuss with HR before FMLA leave expires

1.14 FMLA Protections and Non-Retaliation

Protected Rights:

Employees exercising FMLA rights are protected from:

- Termination or discipline for taking FMLA leave
- Being counted against under "no-fault" attendance policies
- Loss of benefits accrued before leave
- Retaliation for requesting or taking FMLA leave
- Interference with FMLA rights

Prohibited Actions:

JPMorgan Chase will not:

- Discourage employee from taking FMLA leave
- Manipulate employee's work hours to avoid FMLA eligibility

- Vacation/Personal Days: For shorter absences

Coordination with FMLA:

- Personal Leave may run concurrently with FMLA if employee is FMLA-eligible and reason qualifies
- FMLA provides 12 weeks job protection; Personal Leave extends to 26 weeks total

2.10 Termination of Personal Leave

Personal Leave Ends When:

- Employee resigns or voluntarily terminates employment
- Employee fails to return on scheduled date without communication
- Employee obtains other employment during leave
- Maximum 26 weeks reached
- Employee fails to maintain required premium payments for benefits

Extension Denials:

- If extension request denied, employee must return on originally scheduled date or employment may be terminated
- Consider other leave options (FMLA, disability) if circumstances changed

Benefits Upon Termination:

- Health benefits coverage ends last day of month of termination
- COBRA continuation coverage available for medical, dental, vision
- Final paycheck includes payment for unused vacation (per state law)

Conclusion

JPMorgan Chase's unpaid leave policies—FMLA and Personal Leave—provide important protections and flexibility for employees experiencing extended absences from work. FMLA offers federally mandated job-protected leave for qualifying family and medical reasons, while Personal Leave provides discretionary unpaid time off for circumstances not covered by other policies.

These policies, combined with JPMorgan Chase's comprehensive paid leave benefits (Parental Leave, Critical Caregiver Leave, Short-Term Disability, Sick Time), create a holistic approach to supporting employees through diverse life circumstances while maintaining employment continuity and benefit protections.

Employees are encouraged to understand their leave rights, communicate proactively with supervisors and Human Resources, and utilize available support resources. For questions about leave eligibility, requests, or administration, contact the Benefits Service Center at 1-844-ASK-JPMC or access resources through the My Rewards portal.
